

Globalization Panel Discussion

Pradeep Anand

IIT Bombay Golden Jubilee Conference 2008

July 19, 2008

New York, NY, USA

Global Economy

Global Economy

Economic Growth

19th Century

European

20th Century

American

21st Century

Asia
Africa
Latin America

Catalysts for Accelerating Growth

Catalysts for Accelerating Globalization

We live in a globally interdependent economy.

This emerging world economic order seems to be driven by enterprises, economics, and markets rather than ideology and governments.

Globalization is creating tectonic, systemic changes and circumstances that can hinder and catalyze personal, professional and economic growth.

This session's speakers will share their insights into the challenges and opportunities that globalization will create for individuals, enterprises, and nations.

Panel Members

- Amar Bhide, Columbia University
- Arjun Divecha, GMO LLC
- David Grewal, Harvard University
- Kasim Mookhtiar, Advinus
- Ramesh Vangal, Katra Group